

Mary Ann Elliott

President / CEO

Arrowhead Global Solutions, Inc.

Mary Ann Elliott, President and Chief Executive Officer of Arrowhead Space and Telecommunications, Inc., is a recognized expert in wireless and international satellite services. Her heritage includes the Native American Indian tribes, Tuscarora and Lumbee of Roberson County, North Carolina. Arrowhead Space & Telecommunications, Inc. was founded in January 1991 as a Native American, Woman-owned, minority business. It has grown from first year revenues of 60k to an estimated $75 million in 2003 and over 250 employees. The firm is known by its motto "On Target with Quality Solutions."

Ms. Elliott is active in numerous professional organizations including the Armed Forces Communications and Electronics Associations (AFCEA), Women in Technology and Society of Satellite Professionals. She was named among the forty most influential people in global defense, aerospace and national security by Defense Daily, one of only two women so honored.

Her list of awards and recognition are far to numerous to mention. The last two years alone included:

Dialog on Diversity, Entrepreneur of the Year 2000
Department of Transportation, Woman-Owned Business of the Year, 2000 and 2001
Southern Governor's Cup 2000 Award, for Growth and Community Service
Fast 50 Award, Washington Technology, 1996, '97, '98, '00. Four years in a row.

She also serves on numerous boards and advisory councils and is a frequent writer and lecturer on Commercial Satellite Concerns and Small Business issues.