

Susan B. Quinlan

DoD Purchase Card Program Management Office

Ms. Quinlan started her federal career as a Budget and Finance Officer with the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA). She left the CIA to work as an Auditor with the Defense Contract Audit Agency (DCAA) in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. She held positions as an auditor and supervisory auditor and was responsible for the contract audit function of both small and large contractors including Westinghouse Electric Corporation and Carnegie Mellon University. In 1992, she accepted a position as a Program Manager, and later Division Chief, at DCAA Headquarters currently in Fort Belvoir, Virginia. In these roles she was responsible for various audit programs and special projects including Acquisition Reform Initiatives and Rebates on the DoD Purchase Card. In December of 2003, she accepted a position with the DoD Purchase Card Program Management Office where her primary role is to address purchase card internal controls and misuse.

Ms. Quinlan received her Bachelor of Science Degree in Accounting from Pennsylvania State University. She received her Master of Business Administration Degree from Duquesne University. She is a Certified Public Accountant.