(3) Upon completion of the investigation, the DoD Inspector General—

(i) Either will determine that the complaint is frivolous, fails to allege a violation of the prohibition in 203.903, or has been previously addressed in another Federal or State judicial or administrative proceeding initiated by the complainant, or will submit the report addressed in paragraph (2) of this section within 180 days after receiving the complaint; and head of the agency shall determine whether sufficient basis exists to conclude that the contractor has subjected the complainant to a reprisal as prohibited by 203.903; and shall either issue an order denying relief or shall take one or more of the following actions:

(i) Order the contractor to take affirmative action to abate the reprisal.

(ii) Order the contractor to reinstate the person to the position that the person held before the reprisal, together with compensatory damages (including back pay), employment benefits, and other terms and conditions of employment that would apply to the person in that position if the reprisal had not been taken.

(iii) Order the contractor to pay the complainant an amount equal to the aggregate amount of all costs and expenses (including attorneys' fees and expert witnesses' fees) that were reasonably incurred by the complainant for, or in connection with, bringing the complaint regarding the reprisal, as determined by the head of the agency.

In any action brought under this paragraph, the court may grant appropriate relief, including injunctive relief, compensatory and exemplary damages, and reasonable attorney fees and costs. The person upon whose behalf an order was issued may also file such an action or join in an action filed by the head of the agency.

(5) Any person adversely affected or aggrieved by an order issued by the head of the agency in accordance with 10 U.S.C. 2409 may obtain judicial review of the order's conformance with the law, and the implementing regulation, in the United States Court of Appeals for a circuit in which the reprisal is alleged in the order to have occurred. No petition seeking such review may be filed more than 60 days after issuance of the order by the head of the agency or designee. Review shall conform to Chapter 7 of Title 5, Unites States Code. Filing such an appeal shall not act to stay the enforcement of the order by the head of an agency, unless a stay is specifically entered by the court.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

This interim rule revises the DFARS to implement sections 826 and 842 of the National Defense Authorization Act (NDAA) for Fiscal Year (FY) 2013 (Pub. L. 112–239).

Section 826 requires compliance with 10 U.S.C. 2533a (the Berry Amendment) in the case of any textile components supplied by DoD to the Afghan National Army or the Afghan National Police for purposes of production of uniforms. The law further states that no exception or exemptions under that section shall apply.

Section 842 modifies section 886 of the NDAA for FY 2008 (Pub. L. 110–181), which provided enhanced authority to acquire products and services from Iraq and Afghanistan in support of operations in Iraq or Afghanistan. Section 842 eliminates application of the enhanced authority to acquisition of products and services from Iraq.

II. Discussion and Analysis

A. Revisions to DFARS Subpart 225.77 and Associated Provisions and Clauses

This interim rule amends the scope of subpart 225.77 to reflect implementation of sections 826 and 842 of the National Defense Authorization Act for FY 2013 (Pub. L. 112–239).

1. Section 842

This interim rule amends the title of subpart 225.77 to apply only to operations in Afghanistan, and deletes application of the policies and procedures of that subpart to products and services from Iraq.

At 225.7702 (now redesignated 225.7702–1), DoD has deleted the references to the Army of Iraq, the Iraqi Police Forces, and other Iraqi security organizations. Although there was no change to section 892 of the NDAA for FY 2008, Competition for Procurement of Small Arms Supplied to Iraq and Afghanistan, there is no longer a need for this coverage relating to Iraq in the DFARS. DoD does not buy small arms for any of these Iraqi organizations and the enhanced authority to buy items in support of operations in Iraq no longer exists.

This interim rule deletes the reporting requirements at section 225.7703–4 (and redesignates 225.7703–5 as 225.7703–4). The statutory requirement to report on acquisitions using the methods in this section expired at the end of FY 2009.

With regard to associated provisions and clauses, DoD has deleted Alternate I of DFARS 252.225–7021, Trade Agreements; and DFARS 252.225–7022, Trade Agreements Certificate—

Inclusion of Iraqi End Products, because this clause and provision were only necessary to allow the acquisition of Iraqi end products when trade agreements applied to the acquisition.

DFARS 252.225–7023, Preference for Products or Services from Iraq or Afghanistan; DFARS 252.225–7024, Requirement for Products or Services from Iraq or Afghanistan; and DFARS 252.225–7026, Acquisition Restricted to Products or Services from Iraq or Afghanistan, have been modified to delete enhanced authority relating to acquisitions of products or services from of Iraq.

2. Section 826

This interim rule adds a new section at 225.7702–2 to state the requirement that any textile components supplied by DoD to the Afghan National Army or the Afghan National Police for purpose of production of uniforms shall be produced in the United States.

DFARS 225.7703–4(d) prescribes the use of a new clause at DFARS 252.225–7029, Acquisition of Uniform Components for Afghan Military or Afghan National Police, in solicitations and contracts for the acquisition of any textile components that DoD intends to supply to the Afghan National Army or the Afghan National Police for purposes of production of uniforms.

The new clause at DFARS 252.225–7029 defines “textile component” to mean any item consisting of fibers, yarns, or fabric, supplied for incorporation into a uniform or a component of a uniform. It does not include items that do not contain fibers, yarns, or fabric, such as the metallic or plastic elements of buttons, zippers, or other clothing fasteners. There is a cross-reference to this definition added at DFARS 225.7701.

The clause also states that there are no exceptions or waivers to the requirement that the contractor shall deliver under this contract only textile components that have been produced in the United States.

B. Other Conforming Changes

In addition to the changes in DFARS subpart 225.77 and the associated provisions and clauses, conforming changes were also required at DFARS 206.303–70, 212.301, 225.401, 225.502, 225.1101, 225.7501, and the clause prefaces of 252.225–7032, 252.225–7033, 252.225–7035, and 252.225–7036.

III. Applicability to Acquisition of Commercial Items and Acquisitions Not Greater Than the Simplified Acquisition Threshold

Section 826 states that 10 U.S.C. 2533a shall apply, and no exceptions or exemptions under that section shall apply. 10 U.S.C. 2533a (the Berry Amendment) specifically states in paragraph (i) that the statute is applicable to contracts and subcontracts for the procurement of commercial items, notwithstanding section 1906 of title 41. It does not specifically mention 41 U.S.C. 1907, which addresses applicability to commercially available off-the-shelf (COTS) items. However, most of the items restricted by the Berry Amendment are COTS items, and the application of the Berry Amendment in the DFARS has not included any exception for COTS items. Although paragraph (h) of the Berry Amendment provides an exception for purchases in amounts not greater than the simplified acquisition threshold, section 826 requires application to acquisitions not greater than the simplified acquisition threshold, because it states that none of the Berry Amendment exceptions apply.

IV. Executive Orders 12866 and 13563

Executive Orders (E.O.s) 12866 and 13563 direct agencies to assess all costs and benefits of available regulatory alternatives and, if regulation is necessary, to select regulatory approaches that maximize net benefits (including potential economic, environmental, public health and safety effects, distributive impacts, and equity). E.O. 13563 emphasizes the importance of quantifying both costs and benefits, of reducing costs, of harmonizing rules, and of promoting flexibility. This is not a significant regulatory action and, therefore, was not subject to review under section 6(b) of E.O. 12866, Regulatory Planning and Review, dated September 30, 1993. This rule is not a major rule under 5 U.S.C. 804.

V. Regulatory Flexibility Act

DoD does not expect this rule to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities within the meaning of the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 601, et seq. However, an initial regulatory flexibility analysis has been performed and is summarized as follows:

This initial regulatory flexibility analysis has been prepared consistent with 5 U.S.C. 603. This rule implements sections 826 and 842 of the National Defense Authorization Act for FY 2013 (Pub. L. 112-239).

The objective of the rule is to (1) require compliance with domestic source restrictions in the case of any textile components supplied by DoD to the Afghan National Army or the Afghan National Police for purposes of production of uniforms, and (2) eliminate the application of the enhanced authority to acquire products and services from Iraq. The legal basis is the above-cited statutes.

The number of small entities to be affected by the rule is not known. The rule has the potential to impact entities that manufacture textile components, if purchased by DoD to supply to the Afghan National Army or the Afghan National Police for purposes of production of uniforms. Any impact is expected to be beneficial, because it will require purchase from a domestic source.

There are no projected reporting, recordkeeping, or other compliance requirements. The rule does not duplicate, overlap, or conflict with any other Federal rules.

DoD was unable to identify any significant alternatives consistent with the stated objectives of the statute. DoD does not anticipate any significant economic impact on small entities. Any impact is expected to be beneficial.

DoD invites comments from small business concerns and other interested parties on the expected impact of this rule on small entities.

DoD will also consider comments from small entities concerning the existing regulations in subparts affected by this rule in accordance with 5 U.S.C. 610. Interested parties must submit such comments separately and should cite 5 U.S.C. 610 (DFARS Case 2013-D009), in correspondence.

V. Paperwork Reduction Act

The rule contains information collection requirements that require the approval of the Office of Management and Budget under the Paperwork Reduction Act (44 U.S.C. chapter 35); however, these changes to the DFARS do not impose additional information collection requirements to the paperwork burden previously approved under OMB Control Number 0704-0229, entitled Defense Federal Acquisition Regulation Supplement; Part 225 and Related Clauses (Total approved burden hours—57,135).

VI. Determination to Issue an Interim Rule

A determination has been made under the authority of the Secretary of Defense that urgent and compelling reasons exist to promulgate this interim rule without prior opportunity for public comment.

This action is necessary because sections 826 and 842 of the NDAA for FY 2013 were effective upon enactment (January 2, 2013). If implementation is delayed—

- Contracting officers may be unaware that the existing exceptions to the Berry Amendment no longer apply in the case of DoD purchase of textile components to be supplied to the Afghan National Army or the Afghan National Police for purpose of production of uniforms. This may result in purchases of foreign textile components in violation of the law.

- Contracting officers may erroneously provide a preference for the products or services of Iraq, without statutory authority. This will detract from the efforts to appropriately use the enhanced authority to acquire products and services from Afghanistan and the Central Asian states in support of operations in Afghanistan.

The Commander, United States Central Command (USCENTCOM), has advised that procuring products or services from the Central Asian states to meet Operation ENDURING FREEDOM requirements is critical to U.S. efforts to gain access and permissions for supporting current and future operations in, to, and from Afghanistan. USCENTCOM also advises that procurements in the Central Asian states support the USCENTCOM Theater Campaign Plan and International Security Assistance Force Civil Military Campaign Plan, as well as long-term economic development and stability in the region.

However, pursuant to 41 U.S.C. 1707 and FAR 1.501-3(b), DoD will consider public comments received in response to this interim rule in the formation of the final rule.
