SUBJECT: Class Deviation – Modification of Class Deviation 2008-O0008 - Electronic Subcontracting Reporting System

When Class Deviation 2008-O0008 was issued on February 12, 2009, the Electronic Subcontracting Reporting System (eSRS) did not support submitting an individual subcontract report (ISR) on purchase orders issued under the Test Program for Certain Commercial Items at FAR 13.5. At that time, it was necessary to deviate from the FAR to allow a Standard Form 294 to be submitted, rather than an ISR in eSRS.

It is no longer necessary to deviate from the FAR for purchase orders under the Test Program for Certain Commercial Items at FAR 13.5. For purchase orders under the Test
Program for Certain Commercial Items at FAR 13.5, contractors must now submit ISRs in eSRS.

Class Deviation 2008-O0008 - Electronic Subcontracting Reporting System is, therefore, revised as follows:

Paragraph (b)(i)(A) of 219.708 Contract clauses (DEVIATION) is revised to read—

“(b)(i)(A) Use 52.219-9 Small Business Subcontracting Plan (DEVIATION), rather than FAR 52.219-9 Small Business Subcontracting Plan, in orders under basic ordering agreements or blanket purchase orders, or contracts that through other authority are not required to be reported in the Federal Procurement Data System.”

Except for the change to paragraph (b)(i)(A) of 219.708 Contract clauses (DEVIATION), Class Deviation 2008-O0008 remains unchanged. It will remain in effect as modified herein until it is implemented in regulation, rescinded, superseded, or further modified.

For questions concerning this deviation, please contact Deborah Tronic, 703-602-0289, debbie.tronic@osd.mil. For questions concerning eSRS, please contact Mae Bartley, 703-602-8011, mae.bartley@osd.mil.
